Vehicle (Truck) Rental Facility

Vehicle (Truck) Rental facilities have been exploited by terrorists by means of transporting, staging, or storing explosive precursor materials as well as for use in vehicle-borne explosive and/or ramming-style attacks.

Suspicious Behavior and Indicators:

- Attempt to lease or rent a vehicle using questionable identification documents (fake or out-of-state license).
- Inconsistencies in the reasons for renting the vehicle and/or refusal/nervousness when answering questions pertaining to the reason for rental.
- Customers giving vague or unverifiable information on rental agreement (i.e. P.O. Box listed as residential address) and/or seem overly concerned about privacy.
- Suspicious inquiries on whether vehicles can be modified to handle heavier loads, create additional storage areas, increase fuel capacity, or vehicle speed.
- Inquiries on if vehicles possess global positioning satellite (GPS) devices.
- Inquiries on how soon employees report vehicle stolen if not returned on time.
- Returned rental vehicles with altered company logos or structural or appearance modifications
- Using cash for large transactions or a personal credit card in someone else's name.
- Unusual questions about local sites and renting a large capacity vehicle in areas near mass gatherings.
- Reports of rental vehicles parked in unusual locations such as fields, vacant warehouses, or other secluded areas.
