Does your organization have a plan for an active shooter event or hostage taking? Given today's ever-changing threat environment, preparing for and training employees to cope with workplace violence should be a key piece of an organization's incident response planning.

A Unique Training Opportunity:

The National Protection and Program Directorate, Office of Infrastructure Protection within the US. Department of Homeland Security, with support from the NYS Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services, is holding a one-day Security Workshop to enhance response to an active shooter event by:

- Educating participants on the history of active shooter events;
- Describing common behavior, conditions, and situations associated with active shooters; and
- Fostering communication between critical infrastructure owners and operators and local emergency response teams; this includes discussion of interoperability, and communications protocols, and best practices for planning, preparedness, and response.

A Unique Training Opportunity:

The event will also describe how to incorporate key elements of successful incident management into planning efforts, including:

- Communicating with an accounting for employees;
- Building familiarity with local responders and knowing their capabilities;
- Coordinating with first responders before, during, and after an incident; and
- Integrating public affairs into incident management.
