

SEARCH ACROSS MORE THAN 18 FIRE AND EMERGENCY SERVICES WEB SITES

The staff at the U.S. Fire Administration's Learning Resource Center has created a Google custom search engine (CSE) (<http://www.lrc.fema.gov/cse.html>) to help you to more easily find good information on topics of interest from the growing number of fire and emergency services Web sites. Google lets you build a custom search engine by selecting which sites/URLs are searched, and by defining a set of rules that guide the ranking of results. In other words, we can select exactly which fire service Web sites Google searches. This means that your search results are likely to be more relevant, more focused, and more trustworthy.
