The Updated Academy Schedule for the Remainder of 2020 is Available

The NYS Fire Administrator is pleased to announce the updated schedule of courses available at the NYS Academy of Fire Science for the remainder of the 2020 calendar year. The fire academy will be focusing on vital public safety courses that are essential to the training of New York's firefighters, emergency medical staff and public safety personnel. The fire academy staff is ready to accept open registrations for courses. Over the coming days, staff will also be making notifications to prospective students for classes that have been cancelled.

This new reduced class schedule follows a limited reopening of the fire academy in July 2020 after its closure in March due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The fire academy has implemented engineering controls and daily health screenings to safeguard the safety, health and wellbeing of students, instructors and staff.
