

MGT-317 – DISASTER MANAGEMENT FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

No. of OPENINGS: Min. 25/Max. 40
NOVEMBER 2-3, 2017

NASSAU Co.
LONG ISLAND

2 DAY

ANNOUNCED: JUNE 21, 2017

Description:

With this real world training, public service professionals can extend their knowledge and skills necessary for protecting their communities and infrastructure from potential or actual threats. During this course, participants work together in multidisciplinary teams to apply the course information with their professional experience in a variety of hands-on, small group activities, and disaster scenarios.

This course brings together emergency management personnel who are expected to identify and mitigate hazards, and who plan and manage disaster response and recovery efforts within their jurisdictions. Representatives from public service agencies, fire services, law enforcement, emergency medical services, emergency planning, public health, and hazardous materials response organizations are encouraged to attend.

Participants will be introduced to natural and man-made disasters to which public services may be vulnerable. This course also explains emergency planning and management and the regulatory systems, documents, and directives that guide disaster response. Response factors, such as hazard control zones, resources, and responder safety are also discussed. Recovery considerations, such as funding assistance and demobilization, are also explained.

Prerequisite:

You must a US citizen to take this course. Completion of IS-800 is also recommended. These courses can be found online at: <http://training.fema.gov/IS/NIMS.asp>.
