

Joel McCamley

President & Co-Founder of 911 Authority

Mr. Joel McCamley is the President and co-founder of 911 Authority and has over 30 years of experience in the information technology field, specifically in the implementation of technology systems for the betterment of business and human operations, with the past 20 years focused on technology implementations in the public safety communications industry. He has been a certified Emergency Number Professional (ENP) since 2004.

Mr. McCamley's experience includes the executive oversight for project management and technical assistance projects for the design, operation and implementation of mission critical telecommunications systems for many different types of agencies including the Federal government (FCC, DoT, and the National 911 Office), as well as many state and local public safety agencies across the country.

Mr. McCamley is a recognized industry expert in NG911 planning, implementation and operations, as well as public safety policy development and strategic planning. He has helped develop NG911 public safety policy and procedures for numerous states as well as the FCC on critical NG911 issues facing public safety today. Mr. McCamley has developed extensive expertise in NG911 system deployments across the country through his direct participation NG911 efforts in more than 24 different states.

AREAS OF EXPERTISE:

NG911 planning, implementation, and operations

NG911 system deployment

NG911 technical support

Public safety policy and procedure development

Information technology system implementation

Executive oversight

Program management

Design, operation, and implementation of mission critical telecommunications systems