Compressed Gas and Bulk Fuel Provider Awareness

Facilities that provide or house compressed gas and bulk fuel can be targeted or exploited in an effort to cause a large explosion and/or acquire flammable substances for use in improvised explosive devices

Suspicious Behaviors and Indicators:

- Theft or unexplained loss of energy products (fuel oil, propane, etc.) from your business inventory or tractor-trailer tanker
- Requests to purchase unusual amounts of energy products (fuel oil, propane, etc.) not typical of most transactions, or an unusual method of payment
- Unusual inquiries concerning how to store bulk energy products (fuel oil, propane, etc.) or handle it on premises
- Acting nervous or vague about reason for purchase/use of fuel
- Exhibiting unfamiliarity with fuel handling and storage regulations
- Using cash for large transactions or a credit card in someone else's name
- Apparent surveillance of your facility or business by unknown persons monitoring the arrival or departure of energy product trucks
